

LFS ACE (Academic & Career Engagement) Student Leader Position Description

Role overview

The LFS Academic and Career Engagement Team (ACE Team) plans and implements programming related to academic success, wellness and career development for LFS undergraduate students. The team is comprised of three committees that support three different areas of work, which are listed below. Student Leaders on the team are able to grow their skills, strengthen their networks and gain experience in project coordination and implementation.

Organizational Relationship

LFS ACE Team is a student-driven team that is supervised by the LFS Student Engagement Officer and is part of the Student Services Office in the Faculty of Land and Food Systems. There are also several staff from the LFS Student Services team that support and advise the team on specific initiatives and staff advisors from the Student Services team that guide the direction of each committee.

Primary Functions

Student leaders within the LFS ACE team should expect to:

1. Work in committees to support the academic, wellness and career development of LFS undergraduate students:

While each committee has a specific role, the expectation is that all LFS ACE student leaders will work collaboratively, where appropriate, to fulfill the team's mandate.

Specific Committees will focus on one of the following:

- Comms Committee: Prepare and develop communications content for LFS ACE events & workshops, LFS Student Services on platforms including the LFS Student Services Instagram.
- Events Committee: Plan and implement LFS ACE events (ex: Let's Talk About Research, and Career Stories with LFS Alumni).
- Workshops Committee: Prepare, coordinate and facilitate academic, wellness and career-related workshops for LFS undergraduate students including but not limited to Bounce Back in Term 2 and Mapping Your Major.

2. Model outstanding student leadership on campus

- Build and maintain a respectful environment for others in all University-related activities.
- Act as an ambassador for student leadership at UBC and as a representative of the Faculty of Land & Food Systems and the ACE Team.
- Contribute to and model behavior reflective of an environment at UBC that is dedicated to excellence, equity, and mutual respect.

3. Engage in personal and professional skill development

- Develop an understanding of your personal leadership style.
- Gain skills that can be used in both an academic and career environment such as professional communication, giving and receiving feedback, program coordination and teamwork.
- Help to plan and facilitate the recruitment, interview, and selection process for incoming ACE Team members, gaining a new perspective on interview practices and expectations.

4. Other responsibilities

- Participate in LFS ROOTSS Canvas Discussion boards and support LFS ROOTSS programming.
- Attend and actively participate in all meetings related to your selected events and committees.
- Meet individually with Committee Staff Advisor at the end of each term to reflect on experience.

Desired skills and experience

- You are an undergraduate student studying within the Faculty of Land & Food Systems in good academic standing (sessional average of 60% or greater). Students on the team need to be enrolled in at least one class in both Term 1 (Sept. – Dec. 2026) and Term 2 (Jan. – Apr. 2027) of the 2026-2027 academic year, as an LFS undergraduate student.
- You are willing and excited to learn and open to the ideas of others.
- You are able to capitalize on your existing skillset & knowledge while being willing to adapt.
- You have a demonstrated ability to take initiative and work independently.
- You are a passionate member of the Faculty and UBC community.
- You are prepared to commit fully to your role on the ACE Team; time management skills are an asset.

Benefits of participating in this role

Develop professional skills

- Enhance leadership skills in the areas of communication, team-building, personal and professional growth, networking, and thoughtful inclusion of others.
- Gain experience in supporting and developing programming for your LFS peers.
- Gain experience in hiring and recruitment best practices.

Increased opportunity for partnerships with programs and peers across campus

- Participate in and contribute to a strong and dynamic culture of student leadership on campus.
- ACE Team members are part of a larger community within the Faculty and seek opportunities to work closely with the LFS Undergraduate Society and other student groups, LFS Student Services, the Centre for Student Involvement and Careers, Alumni UBC, faculty members, and other Peer Programs in order to better serve their peers and expand their professional network.
- Contribute to and learn from a broader Peer Programs Network, which engages both within and beyond the UBC campus community in support of and in service to others

Commitment to Equity and Inclusion

- Equity and diversity are essential to the UBC community, and are essential to LFS ACE programming that will support all incoming students. A diverse leader community can help contribute to effective community building and to the empowerment of voices that have been underrepresented or discouraged. We encourage applications from members of groups that have been marginalized on any grounds enumerated under the B.C. Human Rights Code, including sexual and gender identity, gender expression, racialization, disability, political belief, religion, marital or family status, age, and/or status as a First Nation, Metis, Inuit or Indigenous person.
- We expect all applicants to be committed to equity and inclusion, and leaders will be provided with ongoing training related to these topics. We expect all applicants to show respect for all people and their differences, demonstrate fairness and equity, work to understand the perspectives of others, promote cooperation and collaboration, bring out the best in others, demonstrate empathy and use respectful language.
